

What is Culture?

Culture is the result of creativity, initiative, and sense of it. Culture is created due to needs.

At the very beginning, culture is created in a very simple form to fulfill the daily needs. Furthermore, in a developed society, culture is also related to the relationship between human and God.

Culture is classified into tangible and intangible. The examples of tangible culture are temple, mosque, house, stone table, and ceramic. While the intangible culture are language, art, and dance.

TANGIBLE HERITAGE

Temple

Religious Building

Traditional House

Stone Table

Ceramic

INTANGIBLE HERITAGE

Dance

Tradition

Sign Language of Bushman

